IS It "Just a Cold"?

Norway People Should Ask Themselves

This Question

Don't say: "It's just a cold."
It may turn into backache, rheumatic aches, aching joints
Or other serious sickness that comes from weak kidneys.
Colds are due to congestion.
Congestion makes the kidneys over-work to filter the blood.
Colds often leave the kidneys weak.
First break the cold;
Then use Doan's Kidney Pills to avert the kidney dangers.

Let this Norway resident tell you about them.
W. O. Needham, ret. farmer, 230 Main St., says: "At different times when I have taken a cold my kidneys were affected. I began using Doan's Kidney Pills when I felt that my kidneys needed a tonic. Doan's always strengthened my kidneys and cleared my system of the excessive uric acid. I always feel better in a short time after using this remedy. I always get my supply at F. P. Stone's Drug Store." (Statement given July 24, 1905.)
On September 3, 1920 Mr. Needham said, "I haven't changed my good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills since recommending them many years ago. Doan's benefited me greatly."

MY GRANDMA

As I come up the old brick walk
She won't be at the door,
No, my little grandma
You'll be waiting any more.
To hug me in her weakening arms,
And place upon my cheek
A loving kiss that I never could Something her lips could never speak.
She won't be there to ask me questions
While she gets me lunch and tea,
To take my coat and hat away
And unpack my grip for me.
And when bedtime creeps around
My grandma won't be there
To take the little glass lamp
To light me up the stair.
I won't hear her in the morning Saying, "John, I've called you twice, You'll have to get a hustle on,
The bread is cold as ice."
She can't send me to the cistern
To get the water pail,
Or to the roadside mailbox
To get the forenoon mail.
She can't ask me if I've fed the hens
And given the cows their grain,
Or to my grandma
Will never wait for me again.
I won't see her at the stable door
With glasses and a horse Saying, "Come John, hurry, Supper's ready now."
We won't go to the attic
With its air of mystery
And together pour the treasures
Which she tells me the history.
She can't fondle the pretty wedding dress
And say, "It's good as new."
Or gaze at the little cradle
Or the army coat of blue.
We won't sit before the fireplace
While she tells the tales of old,
Until the best of us have died
And her shawl won't shed the cold.
I won't see her handkerchief flutter
While she stands in the door
As my returning train speeds by,
Oh, it won't be like before.
STANLEY FOSS BARTLETT.

WHAT I DO

I couldn't tell it all, of course,
I'd never quite get through;
Much time and patience I'd exhaust,
Which wouldn't surely do.
I rise at six o'clock, or so,
I bathe, I sing, I pray;
A seven strikes, my daily mass
I reverently say.
At eight o'clock I break my fast,
I read the daily news,
A few minutes while
The journal I peruse.
Some cheerful greetings to the sick,
Then maybe I go out
Till noon or thereabout.
The dinner o'er I recreate,
I study some and read the Until so weary I become
Of sleep I feel the need.
The later hours of afternoon
I pass in various ways.
I often with the Muses soar
And sing their theme in lays.
I mustn't fail to mention games;
Golf, how I laugh and play!
But there! Who cares to hear about
The things I do or say?
FATHER CASSIDY.

MAINE?

Shall we everlastingly TALK about developing Maine water powers and bringing industries here—or shall we stop talking, raise the money and devel-

NORWAY LAKE

School Reunion

About 175 members and guests of the Norway Lake School Association gathered at the schoolhouse grove August 25, for the 18th annual reunion. Dinner was served at 12:45, after which the meeting was called to order by President Wilbur M. Tucker. Mr. Tucker asked the audience to sing "America" and then called on Donald Partridge to preside.

Business meeting followed and officers for the coming year elected:

Pres.—Mrs. Ella Perry.
1st Vice Pres.—John Wood.
2nd Vice Pres.—Virgil Flood.
3rd Vice Pres.—Mrs. Maud Murch.
Sec.—Mrs. Lottie Crane.
Treas.—Virgil Flood.

Mr. Partridge called on several for speeches: A. J. Merrill of Buckfield, who taught here 50 years ago and is now 98 years old, gave a few points to young teachers and talked interestingly on other things. Horace Perry, to whom we always listen with pleasure, spoke of "What Our Forefathers Left Us." Dr.
C. A. Stephens told us a "true ghost story" of his boyhood days, which was listened to with much interest. The words of Mrs. Katherine Delano, Mrs.
Annie Brown, Elizabeth O. Lasselle, Hugh Pendexter, and Supt. W. E. Stuart provoked smiles, laughter and earnest thoughts.

Letters from absent members, Mrs. Etta Noble Harriman and daughter Chrystal (Mrs. H. W. Davis), of Livingston, Montana, Stella and Helen Pike of Old Orchard, Mrs. Elizabeth Witt Foster of Leominster, Mass., and Mrs. Mercy Gray of Harrison were read by the secretary.
There were three deaths to record: Mrs.
P. Hale of Auburn, a former pupil, Mrs.
Mary Greene and Mrs. Mary Bennett, both residents of this place.

Not as many members of the Association were present this year as usual.
We hope to see them all next year.

Fordson TRACTOR

$625

F. O. B. Detroit

"Yes
I've more Time for Myself
Since
I Got a Fordson"

The Fordson Tractor is taking much of the drudgery out of farm life; it is solving the labor problem; it is reducing the cost of preparing land by almost one half of what it was with horses; and it is saving one third to one half of the farmer's time; and making farm life more attractive.

The Fordson will run your threshing machine —and at the most opportune time for you. It will operate the milking machines, saw your wood, fill your silo, pump the water, and take care of every kind of belt work—

And don't forget—it will plow six to eight acres in a ten hour day, handling two plows with ease.

Thus the Fordson is the ideal year-round tractor. It will pay for its fall and winter keep in many ways.

There's a big story to tell you about the Ford-son—and a true one—come in and get the facts.
Or, if you prefer, telephone or drop us a card and we will bring them to you.

The Atlantic Line

A FURNACE FOR EVERY HOUSE WHERE A FURNACE IS NEEDED

We are still selling the old and reliable Atlantic Line of Furnaces, Ranges and Heating Stoves. This line is well known in all this region, but we still ask attention to some features in which it differs from others. THERE IS A FURNACE FOR EVERY INDIVIDUAL CASE

Furnaces to burn wood. Furnaces to burn coal. Furnaces to burn either wood or coal. Pipeless Furnaces and Furnaces with any number of hot air pipes. We ask special attention to some features of the Pipeless Furnace. Here are some of them: EXTRA LARGE RADIATOR, made of heavy, rust-resisting iron; LONG RETURN FLUE, giving great heating surface. A CLEANOUT DOOR AT BACK OF RADIATOR, also another door in the outer casing, for the recovery of articles that may be dropped through the register.

The Inner Casing is three-ply, two sheets of galvanized iron, with an interlining of corrugated, air-cell asbestos.

Special Double Cup Joints in radiator, make a construction absolutely gas tight and smoke tight even after years of service.

Call and see the furnace on exhibition at our store, or ask for descriptive circular, which will be mailed on application.

FRYEBURG BASEBALL

Our baseball club is a smooth machine. They've won ten games of the last thirteen. But every game they're going great. Darned few errors, and a nice clean slate. But when E. Davis came to town. They started bootin' the ball around. Then hard-boiled guys could do it for fair. They got our boys up in the air. They started bootin' the ball around. He didn't get much support from 'Mitt'. Which allowed two bases, on a single. And when at last we had two down. Our bats started bootin' the ball around. Then 'Buddie' made a beautiful miff. On a hit pop fly, which was surely tough. For the next of 'batter hit to right. And 'Lard' hurried back with all his might. But the ball went wide on an ugly bound. And they started bootin' it right around. And then they began to get to Guy. They hit 'em low and they hit 'em high. They hit 'em hard and they hit 'em fast. And poor old Guy gave up at last. But when young 'Shine' stepped on the mound they kept up bootin' the ball around. Then 'Shine' wound up like an eight day clock. And the Deering sluggers began to walk. He walked seven men all in a row. But he passed one more but he stubbed his toe. On this account the ball went over. But they whacked it into the field of clover. And when at last the ball was found. They started bootin' it right around. Along 'bout dark the game was ended. Spoiled our record which was splendid. You bet our boys are feeling sore. 'Rabbit' never muffed one before. Muffed all up the game. Next time they hand guys come to town. We won't be bootin' the ball around. C. R. MILLIS, Fryeburg.

FRYEBURG

Samuel S. Evans, one of Fryeburg's most esteemed citizens, who has been ill for two years, returned from St. Barnabas hospital, the 27th and is at his home on Main Street. DR. EFFIE L. ROGERS

Dr. Effie L. Rogers was born in Woodstock, Sept. 19, 1865 and died in Boston, Mass., August 29, 1921.

She was educated in the schools of Woodstock and graduated from Northfield Seminary in 1885. For a short time she was a successful teacher, then married Alfred W. Rogers, principal of Gorham, N. H. High School. For a number of years she enjoyed the life of a successful high school teacher's wife in Winthrop, Mass., and finally they went to Kirksville, Missouri, and there she studied, as well as her husband, Osteopathy, under Dr. Still, the founder of osteopathy, graduating in 1906. They settled in Boston, Mass., where from the first they were very successful. For 12 years she continued in this work, only giving it up when the influenza left her heart affected.

She was a member of Park Street Congregational Church, president of the Woman's Benevolent Society, and a great help in the work of the church. She was a woman of inestimable worth and her place cannot be easily filled. Of a sunny disposition, she actually radiated as much joy and hope that others were lifted up and helped by it. She leaves, besides her husband, Dr. Alfred W. Rogers, to mourn her loss, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Wing; her brother, Perley, and wife, and a host of friends.

Surprise on Anniversary

A surprise party was given Mr. and Mrs. Horace F. Noyes, Sunday, Sept. 4, by their children in honor of their forty-fifth wedding anniversary. A delicious and fashionable dinner was served at noon and during the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Noyes were presented with six dining chairs. Although completely taken by surprise, they responded in a very feeling manner.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Noyes, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Emery, Mr. and Mrs. Gleyenne Brooks, Earl Noyes, Haynes Noyes, Fredrick, Mildred, and Vivian Noyes, George, Hazen, Howard, Adelaide, Donald and Florence Emery, Elyne, Albert Lillian and Viola Brooks. Two sons, Alma, an engineer on the Grand Trunk Railroad, and H. Otis, who is traveling in Pennsylvania, also one grandchild, Clinton Noyes, were unable to be present.

Mr. and Mrs. Noyes also received a post card shower of over fifty cards and several handsome bouquets of cut flowers from their many friends who join in wishing them many happy returns of the day.

The Woman's Auxiliary of Jackson Silver Post will hold their regular meeting Saturday, Sept. 10th, at the V. I. S. Hall. All who can are urged to be present to make plans for a sale or fair to be held in the near future.

Mrs. Flora J. Cole and Mrs. Etta Tilton visited Mrs. Fannie Billings at Bethel.

Mrs. Florence Cushman is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Columbus Kimball in Berlin, N. H.

Mrs. Etta Tilton and Mrs. Flora J. Cole are visiting Mrs. Roy Titus at South Paris and Mrs. Howard Smith at Norway.

Mrs. Lee M. Rowe is spending a week with Mrs. E. H. Stover at Old Orchard.

All were saddened to hear of the death of Dr. Edie (Wing) Rogers in Boston. Her husband, Dr. Alfred Rogers, is in very poor health, and her father and mother are feeble. They depended upon the daughter to care for them in their last days.

Willie Morgan and wife will have rooms in Mrs. May L. Bolster's house and go to housekeeping about September 1st. They are in Portland on their wedding tour.

The school building is completed and ready for the opening of school, Sept. 12. Mrs. Walter Goss and daughter Ruth of Auburn are visiting at Ralph M. Bacon's. Bessie L. Greely went to East Bethel, Monday, where she is to teach the grammar school.

Allen J. Hathaway of Littleton, Mass., gave his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hathaway, a complete surprise Saturday, when he appeared at the door, having made the trip by auto. He returned to Littleton, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goss and daughter, Ruth of Auburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph M. Bacon, were in Norway, Monday.

Carrie Horr, Georgia Horr and Arthur Oles from Bridgton, and Flora Fuller from Arlington, Mass., have been spending a few days with Myrtle Bacon at the Little Jap, and have taken several long auto trips from there into the mountains.

Miss Fuller is the head of the Locke School in Arlington, Carrie Horr is a teacher in the same school, Georgia Horr, teaches in Barnstable, Mass.

Mrs. Rose Perkins of Andover is the nurse at George Forbes'. All are doing nicely.

Our summer friends are leaving us for their winter homes. We shall miss them very much.

Rev. C. R. Upton read his resignation to the Baptist church, last Sunday morning, to take effect early in October. The reason is his health. We are sorry for the change.

Christina Willard arrived home, Saturday, after a six weeks' visit in Vermont with relatives.

Frank Cushman spent over Sunday here at his home. He is working in Gorham, N. H.

Mrs. Florence F. Benson of Oxford spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Farrar.

Prof. Gilmore and family arrived here, Wednesday, after spending his vacation with friends in New Hampshire.

Mrs. Etta Bowker York of Dorchester, Mass., was in town the last of the week calling upon relatives. She left Monday for Buckfield for a visit among the Harlows who are relatives.

Ione Farnum left the first of the week for Damariscotta to again take up her duties as one of the teachers in Lincoln Academy.

William Morgan of Greenwood has rented a part of the Mary Bolster house near the lake and is moving in this week.

Friday evening "The Man from Nowhere," a Western play, will be given in the Opera House.

The presenting of the three act comedy by local talent, under the auspices of the O. E. S. brought out a large crowd Friday evening at the Opera House. Everyone enjoyed the comedy and the receipts for that and the dance following were abundant. Woodson's Orchestra of Mechanic Falls furnished music.

Last Sabbath there was held in the Dearborn Grove a service meeting under the direction of the Central Oxford Unit- versalist Association. It was an ideal day for a gathering in this beautiful spot and a number of churches were represented in the attendance. Rev. C. G. Miller of South Paris was chairman and G. W. Q. Perham of Woodstock had charge of the musical part of the program. In the forenoon the meeting was addressed by the Rev. Mrs. Folsom Gardner.

At the intermission all enjoyed a basket lunch at which plenty of hot coffee was served. At 2 P. M. a young people's organization was formed which is to be known as the Young Peoples' Central Oxford Association. Following this was an address directed particularly to the newly formed organization. At three o'clock the final meeting was held with an address by the Rev. Frank H. Billington of Gorham, N. H. Other clergymen taking part in the service were Little of Bethel and Markley of West Paris.

WEST SUMNER

Mrs. C. E. Mason has sold her stand to F. L. Gleason of Sumner.

Mrs. George Dyer is very low. She is under the care of a trained nurse, Dora Williams.

Mrs. James Bosworth is working for John M. M. family.

Harry Pulsifer has bought the Elmer Ford farm in the village.

Mrs. Gladys Adams' baby is very sick.

Rev. C. G. Miller preached his farewell sermon, Sunday, to the regret of all.

ENGINEER THINKS HE IS LUCKY MAN

"When I Got Tanlac It Was the Beginning of the End of My Troubles," He Says

Characteristic of the statements which have made Tanlac a household word on the entire continent is that of Albert A. Westaway of Detroit, engineer in the United States Light House Service, who is waiting in Portland, Me., for the opening of navigation to take a light ship to the lakes. He is stopping at 136 Park St., Portland. In relating his experience he said:

"Like so many others I was left by the 'flu' in a weak and debilitated condition. It seemed to sap my strength so that I had no power of recuperation. I had awful headaches in the back of my head and they came on without warning, sometimes striking me in the middle of the night. I really began to fear my days were numbered, as nothing helped me."

"Lucky for me, one day in Windsor, Ont., I saw Tanlac in a druggist's window, and remembering some things I had heard about it I bought a bottle. That proved to be the beginning of the end of my troubles. I was feeling like a different man after the first few doses. To put my experience in a nutshell, Tanlac did a hundred per cent job for me and made me as well and strong as I ever was. It's my 'standby' now, and I take a dose occasionally just to keep in condition. I am a firm believer in it."

A QUESTIONABLE STORY WITH A CURIOUS MORAL

It is the right and proper thing to observe the good old "Golden Rule" of our childhood; but is it always wise? After only considering what follows we leave it to our readers to decide.

Not many weeks ago two of our most harmless, likewise most respected citizens, a man and a young boy (not of tender age) held themselves to a camp not so many miles away to spend a few days of their vacation in the open. One day they were returning from a day's fishing some distance away, happy, not with their catch of fish (there were none), but in the freedom of the woods, the pure air and sunshine; the entire rest from work, worry, etc. As they neared the top of a long hill they saw at the bottom a man in trouble. He had met with a man in still greater trouble, in that he was helpless from too much pleasure that he had had our two fishermen, had upset the sleigh, but fortunately the first man mentioned had arrived in time to catch said animal; but he was in a quandary what to do, no chance to hitch his own horse and a helpless man with another to care for. It was with great pleasure that he hailed our two fishermen, with knapsacks on their backs, and asked them to return the man and team to his camp not many miles away. We mention the knapsacks for thereby hangs the tale.

They reached said camp glowing and happy that they had followed the good old rule before spoken of. As they took their knapsacks to return to their own camp one of the men politely asked them their names and place of business. Our friends wondered why. Visions of a reward for service rendered flashed through their minds, perhaps. What they did think has naught to do with the final.

A few days later a man waited on our general commissioner with the good news that he was prepared to give the whereabouts of the ring-leaders who were bringing the stuff over the line in their knapsacks, and gleefully gave him the names of our two honest fishermen, who had only been obeying the kindly dictates of their hearts. Great was the disappointment of the informer when our aforesaid commissioner with a hearty laugh said:

"Why, that man is my friend and nearest neighbor and his boy friend, who were on a fishing trip that day and merely did a good turn to man and beast."

Thus our two friends escaped appearance in court, but are still asking themselves the question: "Does it pay?"—Reporter.

Canton Fair

never offered a wilder scene. Men smote the ground with baseball bats until clouds of dust filled the air. It was a pandemonium let loose. In a few minutes the ball with all its varied attractions was like some banquet hall deserted. The horses were started but no one paid any attention to them whatever. It was all ball game, and a thousand people were all yelling, hooting and rooting at once—more and more the scrap became deadly, and then came the climax. Clinton Jordan of the Turner battery saw a ball coming towards him. It was turning and twisting enough to deceive the elect. But, ye gods! Jordan smote it with a terrific blow that sent it flying like a meteor in the direction of Hartford! Jordan made a home walk and the game was won. It was a wonderful game, fiercely fought and won by Turner three to two, while Jordan was the hero and was taken off the field on the shoulders of his admirers.

Over in the office the secretary and his assistants were kept on the jump. Clara Barrows was head of the force in the ticket department, with Ethel Russell and Cora Fuller as chief assistants. It was a goodly sum of money that they handled. Finer weather could not have been had.

THE FLOWER, HAPPINESS

Happiness is a perfumed flower that blooms in the most unexpected places. As it is not susceptible to cultivation it is days of their vacation in the open. One day they were returning from a day's fishing some distance away, happy, not with their catch of fish (there were none), but in the freedom of the woods, the pure air and sunshine; the entire rest from work, worry, etc. As they neared the top of a long hill they saw at the bottom a man in trouble. CRAWFORD NOTCH DISCOVERED IN 1771

Motorists and other resorters in this part of New England may be interested in a few facts relating to the development of the White Mountains and its surrounding region.

Timothy Nash was the man credited with the discovery of Crawford Notch. He found it in 1771 while out hunting. With a companion named Sawyer, he was able to get a horse through the Notch, thus proving it a practicable road into the mountains. In 1803 travel was sufficient to encourage the building of a turnpike. Dr. Jeremy Belknap and President Timothy Dwight of Yale both traveled through the mountains soon after the opening of this turnpike and both wrote interesting records of their experience.

The opening of the Crawford bridge path in 1819 led to early attempts at hotel keeping in the mountains. Resorts were founded there since before the famous. The Crawford were pioneers in the business. Ethan Allen Crawford gave up his house in 1837, and was succeeded by Horace Fabian. The cog railway to the summit of Mt. Washington was built in the '60's, but long before, evidently in the '20's, Ethan Allen Crawford had built the first rude stone huts on the summit of Mt. Washington, which were later replaced by the Tip-Top House. The first Flume House was opened in 1848, and the first Profile House in 1853. At about the latter date the Glen House went into commission. After the '50's the resort business developed rapidly. Perhaps the last event of major importance in the chronicle of the mountains was the feat of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Sturges of Newton, Mass., who drove in 1899 the first automobile up the eight miles of carriage road to the summit of Mount Washington.

The annual reunion of the 32d Maine will be held at Bosworth Post Hall, Portland, Thursday, September 15th. Arrangements have been made with Annie A. Gould Tent, Daughters of Veterans, to serve dinner.

When you think a task is too great to be performed, just consider it too insignificant to worry about and go ahead.

Every hat that is worn covers a certain quality of brains, but it isn't always the fault of the hat.

A. P. Richards of Farmington is advertising a 40 acre farm for sale, a fine proposition. See ad.

People who seek notoriety are often disappointed when they get it.

TEACHING SAFETY FIRST IN SCHOOLS

The many requirements for safety will furnish a variety of topics for school children's essays, oral discussions. The dangers of railroad crossings at grade, the economic justification for abolishing them, the importance of an unobstructed view up and down the track as a vehicle approaches, and the disadvantages of sharp turns, etc., are suggestive objects. Similarly there are many other mentioned questions raised by street intersections and turns. In every town there are many crossings where the autoist's view is unnecessarily limited by fences, shrubbery, or buildings; or where sharp curves with limited visibility invite serious accidents. Guideposts, markers, and other signs are the most efficient guidance of traffic through thickly settled communities also are part of the bigger and more inclusive topic of the economic importance of safety and guidance—the actual money value of human life and of accident prevention.

Another question in solving which the engineer and economist will need the help of enlightened public opinion (and this enlightenment should start in the public schools), is that of the relation of the public highways to railroads and canals. The advantage of long hauls by rail and main terminal points by radiating systems of water, rail, and road transportation, are some of the subdivisions of this general heading.

This listing of topics is not intended to be complete or exact, but merely suggestive. Those which refer to construction could best be utilized when construction work is in progress in the vicinity of a school. Many of the other topics may be studied from maps, of which the students might be required to make tracings or free-hand sketches showing the particular features for which emphasis is desired, or regarding which the exercise is being written. State highway departments often feel the need of a better popular understanding of the problems world doubtless cooperate in a hearty manner. Looking ahead, it is easy to see an actual shortage of men qualified to carry on the work of highway development, so rapid is the growth of the good road movement. Highway instruction in high schools offers opportunity to State departments to develop a body of future citizens equipped with a better understanding of the need for roads, and the problems likely to be met in building them, and, at the same time, to stimulate interest in the profession of highway engineering.

State departments and county engineers can help teachers by assigning members of their staffs to deliver occasional lectures, simple in text and preferably illustrated with lantern slides; by furnishing photographs of highways and construction work for class room or reference use; by assisting teachers in the explanation of work in progress which can be inspected by classes of students. Many states also issue bulletins or reports which are valuable for reference.

The Federal Bureau of Public Roads has a large amount of material which is available for assisting in school work of this kind. In addition to bulletins, circulars, and other printed matter which will be sent free to teachers and others who are interested, lantern slides and motion picture films may be loaned, without charge, to schools equipped to use them. Other material of a graphical or pictorial nature, will be developed from time to time and will be available for use in connection with public school instruction.

But the best equipment for high school work is a live, workable community which believes in building good roads and keeping them in good condition. Under such conditions there never will be any lack of material for making interesting phases of the economic, social, and constructional problems of highway communication. A collection of maps, some good photographs, and a carefully chosen list of books and magazines would complete a useful educational outfit. The assumption must, of course, be made that these facilities are at the command of an interested, active-minded and inspiring teacher.

OUR WOMEN AND THEIRS

American women are more fortunate than their cousins of Europe—if it can be called good fortune. In America there are about the same number of men as there are women, and the latter are admired, courted and sought after. They take their choice. In Europe it is different. The war has worked great havoc with the male population. There are many millions more women than men, and this condition is becoming worse daily through the emigration of vast numbers of the men to other parts of the world. The surplus women of Europe are facing a dismal and hopeless future. Marriage is their natural state, but the enactment of laws authorizing polygamy will prevent their dying as spinsters. The next time you feel dissatisfied with conditions, just contrast your present state with that of the women of Europe. It is a rich field for deep thinking.

SMALL TOWN VS. BIG CITY.

For years it has been a favorite amusement of the large city dailies to refer to the local news contained in the country press as "small town stuff."

It places the city dweller to read it at his breakfast table.

It emphasizes the "superiority of metropolitan wisdom," and the country press is content to let it go at that, with a passing word or two of comment.

The "small town stuff" which furnishes so much amusement to our city friends may be humdrum in its phraseology—it may be unimportant as compared to the vital affairs of the world—but it possesses the merit of being the truth.

The average country publisher does not resort to misrepresentation and sensationalism in the columns of his paper. His news articles and items are composed of facts as he finds them, and they are not doctored or colored for the purpose of pleasing any class or faction, or for the building up of a huge subscription list.

When he takes a stand editorially on any public question, be it local, state or national, he has in view the welfare of the people as a whole, and not the interests of some political faction or machine.

His columns may not contain an overplus of news, but such as there is may be read with perfect safety by the growing children of the community without parental fear of instilling questionable thoughts and desires in their budding minds.

His paper may be small, and provincial, but it is clean. The reader is never at a loss to know whether or not a statement made by the editor is based upon fact, or whether it is composed principally of what is commonly known as "newsprint."

The publisher of any big city daily who can legitimately and truthfully say as much for his own paper is at liberty to amuse himself at our expense to his heart's content.

STATE CENTENNIAL COINS TO BE DISTRIBUTED AT FIFTY CENTS EACH

The Maine Centennial Committee arranged with the United States Mint to coin 50,000 fifty-cent pieces of a special design to commemorate the Centennial of Maine's entry into statehood.

These coins were bought by the State at fifty cents each or a total of $25,000, plus $300 paid the United States Government for coining them. The State has sold a small portion of these coins at one dollar each and the balance amounting to about $20,000 worth are on hand in the vaults of the State Treasury. These coins were issued to advertise the State of Maine and if left in the State Treasury their value as an advertising medium will amount to nothing; and in addition to this the State is losing about one thousand dollars a year interest on the money invested in the coins.

The Governor and Council are of the opinion that it is better for the State to place these coins in circulation at fifty cents each than to leave them in the vaults where the interest after a number of years will amount to as much as the principle. At a recent council meeting an Order was passed that the State Treasurer be directed to offer the Centennial half-dollars at 50c each to the various National banks, trust companies and Savings banks of the State, the distribution of the same to be based upon the deposits of these institutions as shown by the 1920 report of the Bank Commissioner; the understanding between the State and these several institutions being that all these coins will be promptly distributed at fifty cents each and that not more than one coin will be sold or given to any one person.

It will take some time for the coins to be handled and distributed to the banks; not more than one coin to be given to one person. The Council Order expressly stipulates that all the coins shall be distributed so that everyone may have an equal opportunity to secure one. As time goes on these coins will increase in value and of course can be used at any time for legal tender, although probably most of them will be kept as souvenirs.

LIFE

Life itself is rather crude and startling. It is no use to dress it up in black silk and patent leather and call it a work of art.

Stand on the sidewalk and see some old people coming toward you, feeble, wrinkled and pale. Yes, you say but they are old. Well, let's go down cellar. Here is a potato pot. Feeble and pale isn't it? And that turnip over there, wrinkled, feeble and pale. If it had been left in the open it would have been lumpy now.

But let's go upstairs, we have to buy a new suit, and it is going to be black broadcloth. We will stretch our shoulders in it and call ourselves young and never see what is coming toward us on the sidewalk of life. Now that we are properly clothed let's take a walk in the woods and have a look at the old, wrinkled and feeble inhabitants there. Where do they keep them? Why do we never find these skeletons after they have grown old and died?

We are having our fling at short skirts and peek-a-boo waists, but here is a crude fact that will stand after the White Mountains are gone. God gave us beautiful bodies and meant for them to shine on them. If humanity is so bad and low that this won't do, what about wadded ensembles with God's sun shining in, for the pale and feeble. Scientists tell us we are going back to the dark ages, and why not with a World War to kill off our brightest and best? And the youths and maidens that are left spending their time rolling cigarettes.

How long has it been since you have seen a ruddy youth, about eighteen, chuck full of life and happiness? The magazines have poked fun at the cave men, but what would the cave men say to our cigarette filled young that look like a mess of poisoned potato tops? It is the old that know and the young that furnish the next generation.

Is that next generation going to have its birthright, for the honor and glory of our country, be born to add to its shame and degradation?

The Maine State Fair will be held next week, Sept. 13 to 17, inclusive, at Lewiston. Plans are made for a large exhibit, thrilling auto races, splendid horse races and a grand display of fireworks on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. One continuous round of pleasure. See ad.

ALBANY

Austin Hutchinson
Austin Hutchinson who passed away at North Waterford leaves a wife and one daughter, Mrs. Fred McAllister, to mourn their loss. He was a successful farmer in Albany for many years and did quite a business, buying and driving cattle to the Auburn market. He also held the office of selectman for several years. He was the youngest son of Hansen Hutchinson and the last Hutchinson to leave Albany. There were three brothers of the Hutchinson family that lived in South Albany. They were all nice men and prosperous farmers. Ransom Hutchinson, who lived near the handsome lake which was called the Hutchinson Pond, also owned a mill just below the bridge which was built over the stream that runs through Hutchinson Pond. There are three children left of this family, Dr. Charles Hutchinson, who has been a prominent doctor in Portland for many years. He is a very smart man of his age, 90 years old. His son, Lyman Hutchinson, who is a very smart lawyer, and his sister Mrs. Peter Wardwell, live with him. He has one sister, Mrs. Rowena Wheeler, living in Gorham, N. H. Sumner Hutchinson, who passed away several years ago, was a hard working man and had the best orchard in the town of Albany. There is one son of this family who lives somewhere in Massachusetts and one daughter, Mrs. Willard Herrick, who lives at South Paris.

Mrs. Abel Andrews is stopping with Anna Cummings nights and stays with her husband most of the time days. He has been very dangerously sick for the last two weeks but the doctor thinks he is on the road to recovery and will be at home again before many weeks. Mrs. Laura Pinkham left the hospital last week. Mrs. George Keniston is gaining and will probably get out of the hospital last of this week. Albert Paige of Manhattan, Kansas, formerly of Waterford, Maine, stopped one night in Lewiston with his old room and school mate, D. A. Cummings, with whom he used to attend school at Gould's Academy, Bethel, some fifty years ago. Out of that large school of 157 scholars only twenty of that number are now known to be living to the writer.

BASEBALL

Twin Towns 4; Oxford 1

The Twin Towns won the last game in a series of five at Oxford, Thursday afternoon with "Farmer" Hunt pitching a classy game for the Twins. Bill Hogan, the Holy Cross twirler, occupied the mound for Oxford and held the Twins to seven hits.

Everything was blank until the second inning when the Twins opened with a single tally. Bissonette walked Bill White sacrificed, Masterman hit to W.
Needleman, who muffed the fly, scoring Bissonette. Again in the seventh they crossed the cushion, after White and Masterman had singled, Keville tripped to left and cleaned the bases. Fuller landed the final run in the eighth when he singled, stole second and third and crossed on White's safe drive.

Oxford hung up a single mark in their second session as Comerford opened with a double and scored on Loud's miff of a fly from Leavitt. More trouble that looked dangerous for the Twins in the same inning, commenced to develop when Peckham walked and D. Needelman landed safely on first through Bissonette's error. W. Needelman hit into a double play and Hogan passing out closed the rally. Oxford made several attempts to put runners across during the contest, but was unsuccessful.

Portland 2; Twin Towns 1

Dave Masterman's crew met defeat Saturday at the hands of the Portlands, otherwise, Packard Motors, at Bayview Park. The game was fast and considered the best played contest on those grounds for the season. Tim Houghton, the Kents Hill southpaw and Bill Hogan, the Holy Cross side wheeler, were arranged in battle against the other, supported by teams of high caliber. Hogan had the stron-est argument, holding the Twins to four singles, while Houghton was found for ten safeties. Practically errorless ball was played.

Twin Towns pushed across the first knock out in the second inning. With one gone, Billy White jammed on a three sacker and barely escaped a put out on third when he squeezed that cushion.
White scored on Keville's fly to Gaskill and slid into a narrow margin for safety. This proved the first and last tally for the Norway-Park outfit as his wares scarcely and hard to bunch. An offering came along in the ninth to hook up another run when Fuller singled, Masterman ripped a safety into the field, Fuller raced to third and made a pretty slide for the base. Umpire Harsett called him in and a lengthy argument followed. While the Twins' manager admitted the throw was ahead of the runner, he was positive Aube, the third baseman, failed to tag his man. The decision was sustained and playing continued. Masterman gained second on the steal, but White fanned and all was over.

Portland landed their first run in the third. Hogan drew a pass and went the circuit when Tetreault singled, Ward walked and Woodbury hit into a fielder's choice from forcing Ward at second. This combination gave Portland the first mark and tied the score. Woodbury chalked up the second run, in the eighth and this proved the winning article. He laced a three bagger into left and made home when Gaskill drove a low one between first and second.

Del Bissonette was laid up and unable to follow the Twins on this cruise and Breen of Lewiston played the initial sack.
MacDonald was handicapped by an injured ankle, but followed the team. He was allowed a runner on bases.

Double Header Closed Season

A double header Labor Day at the fair grounds with the strong Barton team was taken by the Twins and closed the baseball season for this outfit. Twins won the morning game 2-0; nd again in the afternoon 1-0. Sanford was booked here for the last show, but cancelled soon after the tournament. This left the Association out of luck as practically all the important teams in the state were under contract for the holiday. After searching far and wide, the Barton heavies, one of the three strongest clubs in Vermont, was landed. Two shut outs was the result.

Twin Towns 2; Barton 0

"Farmer" Hunt twirled high class ball in the forenoon game against Bailey, the long limbed Vermont artist. Hunt allowed but two singles and Bailey kept the Twin sluggers to four hits, one being a three sacker.

The Twins egged their two runs in the first session before the visitors settled down to business. Three errors in succesion by Carter were responsible for the only pair of marks secured by the home aggregation. After the opening cloud burst, Barton tightened and followed the Twins in an air tight contest. The fielding of both teams was sensational.

Twin Towns 1; Barton 0

The Twins won out in the ninth when Masterman smashed to right and caught Bissonette over the platter for a grand finish of a tight moving battle.

Houghton presided in the box for the Twins and Bailey who hurled in the forenoon game for Barton, again went after a home bunch with a vengeance. Both artists put out high class stuff against a cool south wind which lifted the dust in the diamond and made accurate shooting a skillful performance.

The visitors were the first up and succeeded in putting runners on in six of the nine sessions. Not until the third did they look serious. With two gone, Matthews singled to right and Barrows sent a scratch toward Fuller. Both runners were held tight as Houghton fanned Dubois. In the sixth, Barton filled the sacks with one gone. Barrows drove to right, Dubois walked, Lee hit a single and he secured third when Houghton heaved wild to Bissonette trying to catch Dubois off the base. Bailey was fanned and Harrington walked, filling the bases. Master-man captured Lee's foul fly in the bleachers, so out of this opportunity to hang a rally. Once again in the ninth the visitors attempted to avoid a whitewash.

On two out Lee singled and Carter made a start when MacDonald booted his offering between first and second. Nothing happened as Griffin was tossed out at first by Houghton.

The Twins retired in order during the first inning, but opened something in the second. Bissonette, the first up, ran out a bunt, White sent a fielder's choice to center, forcing Bissonette at second. Masterman drove a hot liner to right, landing twice on the second sack. Purington hit to Bailey who retired White at third and forced Masterman there for the last out.

Bailey crawled from a bad hole in the sixth and but for the Twins being caught taking close chances running bases, would have put his team in Dutch. MacDonald, the first up, was walked. Masterman, who ran for him attempted to steal third after reaching second on Fuller's sacrifice bunt, was nailed by catcher Harrington.
Bissonette walked, stole second and went third on a wild pitch. White was passed but it was all over in the seventh when on a fly to Dubois. Passes issued Houghton in the seventh and to Mac-Donald in the eighth were not dangerous, as Houghton and Masterman who was on for "Mae" were both thrown out while attempting a steal.

Bissonette scored the single tally in the ninth, a balk, White's sacrifice and Masterman's drive to right sent the lone mark across. The game finished with one out and a runner on bases.

Family Reunions
Two family reunions were held Sunday, Aug. 28. One the annual Day reunion held at Alton Day's on Curtis Hill. A goodly number were present and all had an enjoyable day together.

The Martin reunion was held in Greenwood on the old homestead, now the home of Royal T. Martin. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin and two children, Albert and Beatrice, and their daughter, Lucinda, Martin Waterhouse and their daughter Fannie and husband, Alanson Cummings went from here. Besides these already mentioned there were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Morey, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morey and son Bert Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Roy T. Martin and two sons, Irving and Charlie of Greenwood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Felt, their two sons, Jesse and Eddie and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. William Hanson and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Cross and daughter of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Rawson Martin and five children and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Martin and three children of Locke's Mills, Mrs. Elizabeth Martin Hayes and daughter, Mertha Perry.

Mrs. Olive Martin Shaw, who is an aunt to the above Martin children, and is 84 years old. She came in an automobile from her home in Portland to attend this reunion on the old Martin homestead and of her line of descendants who were present were her grand-daughter, Rosamond Shaw of Spokane, Washington, and her son, Daniel Shaw of Portland. Daniel Shaw is a Lieutenant in the U. S. Navy on the U. S. S. Capnistierre, which is next to the largest vessel in the world. He happened to be at home at this time and it was a pleasure to the company assembled and to himself that he was able to present. Besides the relatives mentioned there were two old neighbors, Mrs. James Glover and her husband of Oxford and Mrs. Verne Walton and her husband of South Paris. Other friends and chaffrons present were, Mr. and Mrs. Irving, Philip Brooks, Charlie Brainerd from Portland and J. W. Cummings of West Paris.

A large table was spread under the big elm which was close to the site of the old house, where steamed clams, sandwiches and pastry of all kinds were served. The clams were steamed in the real shore dinner style by Daniel Shaw. In the afternoon a whole group and a brothers' and sisters' group with Aunt Olive in the center were taken by Walter Arket of Bryant Pond. There were 54 in all present and all had a good time.

Seventeen of the above people who came from Portland, Saturday night, stayed over night with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martin on Pioneer street. Those whom they could not accommodate in the house and one room borrowed of J. E. Brock camped on the lawn in Mr. Wadwell's auto trailer which is furnished for that purpose.

Fred Lurvey
Fred Lurvey, who has not been at all well for several weeks but seemingly was improving, passed away suddenly Sunday night, Aug. 28.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at the M. E. church. Mr. Lurvey leaves a wife and two children, Merle and Iola, also an older son by his first wife, of Bryant Pond. Mr. Lurvey was an orphan and brought up by the late Tom Lurvey on Curtis Hill. Much sympathy is expressed for his little family.

Sept. 13th will soon be here and with it the Grange Fair. Special mention is to be made for the drama in the evening given by Pleasant Pond Grange. "Home Acres" is the title of the play and Pleasant Pond people know how to do it. They have the real talent. There will be specialties between acts. They will also furnish music for the dance which follows. There will be moving pictures in the afternoon for all those who do not get to the ball game. A good number of floats are being planned out and decorated automobiles. Dinner and supper served in other halls.

Charles Bane has sold his farm to Milton Pierce, who takes possession. Sept. 15, Mr. Bane has not yet decided where he will go.

Mrs. Robert Young is in the C. M. G. hospital for surgical treatment. She is doing well.

Little Lewis Jacob Mann, who is in Lewiston yet, is gaining on the piazza C. L. Ridlon is able to be on the piazza and round the house on crutches.

Geo. Dunham of Brattleboro, Vt., has been here to visit relatives and help his cousin, George Curtis, in his sickness and loss of his home at North Paris by fire.

A party of eight Boy Scouts and their Master, Rev. H. A. Markley, started Aug. 29th, for a three days' trip around the Mountains. Rev. H. F. Aldrich accompanied them with his auto, also Rupert Berry on his motorcycle, who returned Tuesday.

Mrs. Josephine Bates is visiting her cousin in the Portland district.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Briggs are keeping house in the upstairs rent in Geo. Robinson's house.

Mrs. Fannie Haines went to Gorham, N. H., to attend the funeral of her brother who was killed in an automobile accident. His name, Mrs. Jennie Estes, also went to the funeral.

WEST BETHEL
Donald Jordan, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jordan, aged two and one-half years, died Thursday, Aug. 25. A number of their relatives came from Auburn to the funeral.

Edith Briggs of South Paris spent the week-end with friends at this place. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Newman and son Gerald of Auburn were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brown at Camp Logwood, Sunday.

Mrs. Clara Abbott was the guest of her son Carroll, Sunday, at her old home on the Flat road.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carr of Brockton, Mass., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mason; while they were all took a trip around the Mountains, camping out one night.

Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Hutchinson attended their uncle's, Austin Hutchinson's funeral which was held at Albany. Mrs. Harry Reid was in South Paris, Thursday.

Mrs. Alfredda Farwell and Grace were calling on friends on the North side of the river, the 29th.

The schools commenced Sept. 6, the Grammar to be taught by Mrs. Annie Churchhill, the Primary by Katharine Brown of Northwest Bethel.

Mrs. Ed L. Mason was in Berlin, N. H., Saturday.

Big Barn Door Sketches

Meredith Center, N. H.
Waiting to go on the receiving line of the Old Home Day Observances, and for crops to ripen.

Fish are not biting and summer guests are packing their trunks this September morn.

What shall I do? I am appointed on the Receiving Committee for Old Home Day and Walter refuses to assist me. Sure, I supposed he would stand by and hold my hat and cane, but he says he won't.

Morning Glories have got to the end of the string and cling to the cobwebs under the eaves.

Walter sometimes slows down the car and looks at the tires after some one in the back-seat blows their nose from the electric railway running from the Weirs to the city is pretty near a junk-heap. It resembles the last days of the Fryeburg Horse Railroad.

At the Weirs Reunion I patronized the Red Cross Tag Beggars and got as much enjoyment out of it as those who played the wheels of fortune and other gambling games.

Peter, the horse, has been sick and vomited like a dog. Dr. Moor has filed his teeth and pronounces him all right for another ten years.

The village barbers charge 50 cents for a hair cut on Saturday and 35 cents on other days. In the city 35 and 50, and shaves for 15 and 25 cents according to the shop you patronize. Walter cuts my hair and I shave myself, even at the old home.

Some desirable books were got at a recent auction. A dozen of them at ten cents each. I was elated over the great bargain! On returning home Walter found a screw-driver in the road and seemed as much pleased as I did in getting the books. Neither of us really needed what we got.

In describing a place where I'd been, Warren Kimball told me it was at "The Stock Farm," and to make it plain said: "That was the name given it when Mr. So and So lived there and had 6 gobblers and one hen turkey, 5 pigs, a cat and 8 kittens." Its owner jokingly called it a stock farm and the name has stuck to it. I once knew it as the Rob Carr place.

The man with a paint brush has run riot among the telephone poles in this State. Fifty-six dark-blue and white "bands" are emblazoned on poles between Meredith and Plymouth, 15 miles. Ten would have served the purpose of pointing the way. On nearly half of them the letters, "D. W. L."—Do Work Don't Work, Dorothy Williams or Daniel Webster, or whatever it means—appears and is very much overdone. It shows a useless waste which the ever-burdened taxpayer can ill afford.

Thus the writer was addressed while at The Weirs: "It must be settled here this week, whether I am correct, or the minister who quoted Roosevelt as saying, 'Speak softly and carry a big stick.' I say Teddy said: 'Tread softly and carry a big stick.' It would be a hypocrite to speak softly and then use force, but to tread softly and fight is all right, and what Roosevelt said. Am I right, sir?" The man thus speaking was an Old Veteran, time-worn and bow-legged, leaning heavily on a cane and seriously in earnest. I certainly did not know. Do you?

A boy of less than 20 came out of Gifford many years ago. He carried on a farm for two elderly maiden ladies in Laconia. In due time the sisters died and the farm, which was a good one, became his. He toiled early and late, saved and prospered. He married and had one daughter. The father bought land and then more land, and extended his real estate holdings into other towns. "The Bridge" end of his town also prospered and became a city, and very much against his wish it included all the rural districts. Taxes increased as he predicted. The farmers receiving little benefit from city government, but had to pay the same rate of tax as those who lived in the city proper, which he said was unfair, and unwarranted. He grumbled, growled and made it uncomfortable for the city fathers and tax collectors.

At the last go-down each year he paid his taxes under protest saying, "he'd get square with city sometime." This continued for more than a fifth of a century. He worked and saved and saved and worked and brought more land. He was not niggardly with his family, but fought the city government and tax collectors with keen delight at every turn, saying: "He'd get even with the city and not one penny of tax would it get from his property." Just how this was to be done he did not say, and no one seemed to know or perhaps care. His surplus cash went into real estate whenever a bargain presented itself. "I'll fix the city robbers," he was wont to say.

The wife died, the daughter was married and settled in Massachusetts and he alone was left on the farm. His ambition for city farm-land "at a good trade" did not wane. He bought with discriminating shrewdness up to almost the last hours of his life.

Finally death came and he was properly buried in the family lot in the town of his birth. The struggle for land and the fight against unjust taxes was ended. Who won? He had by dying and willing all his property, except the home place, to the State of New Hampshire.

Did the daughter contest the will? No, she knew it was her father's wish and the crowning victory of his life! No more taxes on his property would go to the city government of Laconia. He had done what he said he would; he had beat the tax robbers and was satisfied. No doubt he passed "over the river" happy in those thoughts.

The home place given the daughter is used by her as a summer residence. I never pass it without a feeling of admiration for both. Not because they were Sanborns, but that the father made a life fight for a principle he thought right, and the daughter had sufficient good sense to permit him to win out.

There was a ball game at the village, Saturday, and I attended. That is, the tribe went, and took me along. The ball grounds are on Plymouth street where the earth resembles the Fryeburg Fair Grounds, and is pretty much good for nothing except for sports and burial purposes.

After the usual jockeying of autos for the best sight-seeing position had been completed and being shut out from seeing anything but the top of a closed car, I lost interest in the game and E. S., Friday evening, Sept. 16. Baked went into the nearby burying ground where lines of marble slabs and pretentious monuments gleamed in the sun. Here memory is the connecting link between the living and the dead; here the vanity of both is shown. The modest slab and the half-dressed, gaudy flying angels perched on monuments mingle with each other, as do the humble and the proud, esau and sinner, lay side by side, row on row.

The grounds are none too well kept and the two fountains are waterless, on account of the continued dry spell, and the notion that the living needed water more than the dead. A pretentious iron gate "erected by Katherine Gilman in memory of Charles Francis Gilman, 1916," is at the main entrance, and supported by well proportioned rock and cement columns. The effect is imposing and those who pass its portals view life from a different angle than those in the adjoining field of mirth and sport.

I'm impressed with the chisel marks on the headstones and am almost certain they do not tell the truth. Many of the old grey-heads of youth seem now to have died when young, in comparison with my own age.

That my father's friend and companion gave up the struggle at 63 seems incredible, and that his wife "passed on" at 68 impossible. That the wickedest man I ever knew in my early life checked out at 56 is appalling! That my ancient fishing friend of the 11th Maine Volunteers, whose voice was loud and strong, with long white hair and beard, answered the final bugle call at 54 is now incomprehensible. To me then, they were old people, old enough to die, but now that they were called early in life.

The man who pounded on the chamber stairs to wake me for the day's work reached the age of 84, and his auburn haired daughter died at 29. This seems more reasonable to my present state of mind as did the 97 years reached by the tottering old man I once knew, who delighted in telling of how he walked with pack on back from Meredith to Charles-town bridge—114 miles—between "sun and sun" when he was a young man.

I made good the promise to call at Lakeshore Park and see Mrs. Fred Sanborn's husband, the conductor, who takes tickets on the Lakeshore Railroad six days out of the seven. The Mrs. and daughter work the full seven days at the Pavilion and Fred chores round on Sunday. So that was the day set apart for my calling. I didn't consider it especially wicked so was accompanied by the whole tribe. The day was perfect and we enjoyed the trip immensely. A good number of people were at the Park but the Pavilion was closed excepting the ice cream and soft drinks department.

The Past Chancellors of the Laconia K. of P.'s were indulging in their annual family steamed clam festival, perhaps 150 or so. Their chief, Will J. Dearborn, who has received all the honors of the subordinate lodges as well as the Supreme Grand Lodge of the State, was there and in charge.

At one time he was printer-apprentice in the Democrat office and lived in our family. That was many years ago, yet he did not forget our liking for clams and invited us to partake. Of course, the unwashed could not set in, break bread and eat salt with the high-up P. O.'s or the K. P.'s and we were excused. However, a heaping panfull of steaming clams came to us at the proper time and were appreciated. Not only for that meal, but for dinner the next day, as a portion of the overrun of clams—contrary to my expressed order—were smuggled home and served at the family table Monday!

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Sanborn and daughter are busy people, but found time to entertain us in an agreeable way. Besides having the Lakeshore Park Play Grounds to care for, passenger fares to and from Lakeport and Dover to collect daily, they have two homes and two autos and a thousand people a week, during August, to keep an eye on.

One of their homes is on Ingalls' Hill, in Bridgton, Me. near the Sweden line, and the other in Lakeport, N. H. They are looking ahead to when they can spend all their time in them, and I venture the guess that then they will not be half as happy as at present.

Such is the way of life!

WATERFORD

Addison Millett is weighing corn at the Harrison corn shop.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Fitts and two daughters, Dorothy and Beatrice, Mrs. Addison Millett and daughter Eloise attended the Sunday school picnic at Pa-poose Pond, Wednesday.

Will Littlehale has a new Ford touring car.

Mrs. Eunice Durgin and young son spent Saturday and Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Ruby Gardner.

An alarm was given about eleven o'clock P. M., Wednesday at Highland Farm, when a porcupine was discovered climbing the piazza post. He was finally captured by Arthur Millett.

Mrs. Llewellyn Millett and daughter Lillian spent the afternoon at Addison Millett's, recently.

John Grover carried a party of twenty-five to the Sunday school picnic at Pa-poose Pond, Wednesday. About sixty people enjoyed the basket dinner under the Pines, after which games, races, bathing and swimming took place.

Dinner was served on the lawn at Highland Farm under the hackmatack tree, Sunday. Those from away were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Fitts and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Millett and children, Francis and Dorothy, Willard Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Millett and son Leslie, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Rice and children and Arthur Proctor.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Greenleaf and daughter Florence Eloise were at home over the week end.

Eloise F. Millett and Elizabeth Saunders started for Gorham Tuesday, where they will attend Gorham Normal School.

On Thursday a delightful picnic was held on the Play Ground, Rice Hill. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. George H. Rice and children, Charles, Albert, Elsie, and the twins, Richard Franklin, and Rachel Frances. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Fitts and daughters, Dorothy and Beatrice, Mrs. Addison Millett and daughter Eloise, Leonard Armstrong and children, Howard, Elizabeth, Sylvia and Elsie.

Kenneth Millett is hauling corn for Addison Millett and son.

Arthur R. Fitts and family, who have visited at Addison Millett's, and George Rice's, returned to their home in Quincy Monday.

Mrs. M. Ella Charles visited at Highland Farm, last week.

Regular meeting of Keoka Chapter O. E. S., Friday evening, Sept. 16. Baked bean supper before the meeting.

HUDSON

Super - Six

Now Saves You

$705 to $955

Hudson is always included in that small group, which men consciously or not, classify as the really great cars.

But do you ever think how much less Hudson costs than its companion leaders?

Do you realize that even when the Super-Six last year sold for $2600, it was from $1200 to $1500 under-priced for the field in which it ranked by performance, quality, reliability and distinction?

A Distinctive Price Advantage

Never was Hudson's price advantage over cars of comparable quality so striking as now. It is in all respects as great a car, and in many refinements even greater than last year's Super-Six. And think, that then, at $2600 it outsold all fine cars, as it had done for five years previously.

Now with Hudson at the medium price of $1895 does any higher-priced car offer qualities to warrant their vastly increased price differential?

And of the cars in its new price range is there one that you ever even distantly associated with Hudson in any wanted quality?

Now $1895

OTISFIELD

Cemetery Incorporated

On August 31st, at the Grange Hall at Spurr's Corner, was held a meeting at which the final steps were taken toward the incorporating of the cemetery located below the Sylvester farm in Otisfield. The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

Pres.—A. H. Smith.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Grace Gay.
Sec and Treas.—Mrs. Gertrude Barrows.
Sexton—Fred Edwards.

Trustees—Edwin Lamb, Fred Edwards, Edwin Davis, Grace Gay and Margarette Cain. "The cemetery was incorporated under the name of "Cedarcrest Cemetery." Two years ago this association was formed for the purpose of maintaining a public burying ground that would not be a disgrace to the community. If each lot would pay twenty-five dollars the interest from the fund thus created would at least keep the weeds and blueberry bushes from gaining full control. Everyone considered the plan good—quite excellent, but the twenty-five dollar lot, that, to some, seemed almost prohibitive. However, the operation started by writing to Mrs. Cora Cummings of Norway, asking her opinion of the plan and incidentally what of the money. Her answer was most satisfactory. She approved the plan and her money was ready. With this encouragement to start with, the plan was pushed forward till now it seems there can be no doubt of its success.

There are about fifty stones—mostly old ones, that are either tipped or fallen, these are to be erected, the fence straightened and painted and regular work by the sexton will begin next spring.

We need more money and need it badly to do all that we are intending to do. We also appreciate the support of the many loyal friends, both resident and non-resident, who have made this undertaking even so much of a success. We hope in a measure to repay by giving the best care that we can to the last resting places of your loved ones.

SOUTH OTISFIELD.

Deacon Shaw passed away the 30th. He was a highly respected citizen of the town and a member of the Baptist Church. He leaves three children, Mrs. True Winslow, who he resided, who has kindly cared for him in his old age. His other daughter was Mrs. Fred Stone of Auburn, and the son was Melvin Shaw of Webb's Mills. He leaves five nephews and two nieces, also two great-grandchildren.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Kneeland. He was laid to rest in the cemetery at Standish Neck, beside his first wife. His age was 95 years, 8 months and 5 days.

Mrs. A. S. Ames and son attended church at Spurr's Corner, Sunday. Loren Stearns has sold a cow to Dexter Nutting.

Lulu Spiller from Raymond is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Grace Dyer.

EAST OTISFIELD

Mrs. Charles Thurlow was an over Sunday guest of friends in Lewiston. About eighty neighbors and friends gave Charles Thurlow a surprise party on his birthday, Wednesday evening. A very pleasant evening was passed with music and games. Ice cream and a variety of cake was served. At a late hour they separated for their homes after wishing Charles many happy returns of the day.

Arlene Losier will attend Webster Grammar School in Auburn.

Hartley Greenleaf of Auburn was an over Sunday guest of his parents. His sons, Henry and Ernest, who have been with their grandparents during the summer, returned home with him on Monday.

Several families of about fifty people had an all day picnic, Thursday, Sept. 1, in W. F. Smith's grove by Saturday Pond. Alfred T. Stone visited his mother at P. C. Greenleaf's, Sunday. GILEAD MAN KILLED

William Brooks of Gilead, Me., was killed and Mrs. Jason Coffin of Berlin, was taken to St. Louis hospital as a result of an automobile turning turtle on the Shelburne road, near the Leighton farm Sunday afternoon, Aug. 28th.

Mr. Brooks was pinned under the car and died shortly after the accident. Mrs. Coffin was seriously injured and rushed to the hospital, where it was found she had internal injuries, but slight hopes are entertained that she will survive. Mrs. Brooks was slightly cut and bruised, while Mr. Coffin was shaken up, but not seriously injured. Sand in the road is attributed as the cause of the accident. The machine did not leave the road.

HENS ROLL THEIR OWN

As a result of eight years' feeding tests in the United States Department of Agriculture poultry yards at Beltsville, Md., a mash feed has been compounded which gives uniform high egg production. This mash which has been tested for three years, is made of 4 per cent. bran, 4 per cent. middlings, 20 per cent. meat scrap, and 66 per cent. corn meal. In the experiments the hens were allowed to select their own mash ingredients. This is the proportion of those different feeds which they ate during the year. Several pens of 50 hens each, both of Leghorns and of Rhode Island Reds, have averaged from 140 to 155 eggs apiece while this mash feed was fed.

While the mash seems especially adapted for Leghorns, it has given very good results with Reds. Wyandottes and Plymouth Rocks were found to get too fat on the ration and a mash somewhat lower in meat scrap has given better results with these breeds. Both the Wyandottes and Plymouth Rocks at Beltsville are large standard sized fowls. The tendency to become overfat on this mash probably will not be found in a smaller type of Plymouth Rocks, such as is often found on commercial poultry farms.

The Lure of BIRTH STONES

SEPTEMBER

The son or daughter of this month should wear sapphires that are blue as blue flowers. The sapphire is noted as a regal gem. Kings have worn it about their necks as a powerful defense against harm or danger. A gem of Troy wore a rare star-sapphire as a potent love-charm. And it has taken the greatest epic poetry to recount her captivity of Paris, who carried her to Troy; whence arose the Trojan war incited in her defense by her numerous suitors.
